

Financial Services Regulatory Consulting

Hogan Lovells now offers a fresh approach to navigating complex financial services regulation, marrying our legal insight with the knowledge of experienced regulatory consultants.

Financial institutions face an increasingly complex array of regulatory requirements. These demands, combined with significant operational challenges, mean that firms often feel the need to turn to multiple advisers for help.

Our Financial Services Regulatory Consulting team work alongside our legal colleagues to help you solve your challenges. We know that each stage of a project's life cycle needs a certain skill set. We can call on the right people to guide you every step of the way.

Our unified team is fully equipped to deal with every aspect from advice to implementation, letting you skip the juggling act. We build a team designed to tackle each particular issue, drawn from a panel of experienced advisors featuring:

- senior compliance and risk professionals
- top-tier regulatory lawyers
- ex-regulators
- former operational directors
- experienced project managers

Spotting the issue. Identifying the solution. Clearing the roadblocks.

We manage and coordinate all aspects of the project from start to finish, allowing you to focus on running your business. Powered by the expertise and deep resources of Hogan Lovells and the experience of specialists in a range of disciplines, we offer a unique perspective.

Knowing the regulators

With team members who have worked for the FCA (and previously the FSA), we know how they operate.

Understanding your business

Our first-hand experience of working in-house means our team is familiar with the scale of the challenges faced by large, global organisations and the problems presented by legacy systems.

Delivering change

Our team has led business transformations and worked with a range of institutions going through regulatory and structural change. We deliver progress, not PowerPoints.
