

Hogan Lovells FinTech Mentor Program

Hogan Lovells FinTech Mentor Program

We love what we do. Whether helping start-ups successfully launch exciting new products, or ensuring firms stay competitive at a time of unprecedented regulatory challenges and geopolitical unrest, we can advise you effectively. You need advisors who know where you are going and can help you navigate the complexities and sensitivities of the regulatory and political environment on your journey. This is why we launched the Hogan Lovells FinTech Mentor Program.

In the financial services sector, regulation is simply a reality of business. We can help you understand and implement this regulation effectively, regardless of the growth phase you are in. With offices and partner firms in the major financial centres across the globe, our cross-border, multidisciplinary teams provide the insight you need, wherever and whenever you need it. This covers everything from regulatory compliance procedures, to legal training, assistance with authorization to advice on highly complex cross-jurisdictional matters.

Benefits of Program membership

Now in its fifth year, the Program can provide your company with up to £25,000 of free legal and consultancy services, innovative tools to help you move forward, and access to our network of industry participants and bodies so you can leverage the experiences of others in the sector.

What we are looking for

The Program is open to a wide range of FinTechs, from pure start-ups to more established growth players looking to expand further or launch new products. Interested businesses, particularly but not exclusively in the areas of banking, lending, payments, insurance, investments and sustainable finance, are welcome to apply to join the Program.

We're looking for FinTechs whose proposition is particularly innovative, and who need legal or regulatory consulting advice within the next 12 months.
