Antitrust and Competition

Stay on the right side of the competition laws. Whether you’re a multinational corporation or a growing business looking to expand overseas, keeping up with competition laws can be complex and time-consuming.

And as the rules keep changing, companies face new challenges and risks because competition laws are constantly evolving. There’s heightened scrutiny on everyone, and the consequences of not following the rules get more extreme all the time.

Get it wrong, and you could face financial penalties, criminal liability, litigation, difficulty-closing deals, and damage to your reputation. We can help you anticipate and deal with these risks before they become problems.

Be ready

With a team of 135 lawyers in 17 countries, we can help you tackle multinational mergers and joint ventures; cartel, abuse of dominance, and restrictive practice cases; and other investigations. We’ll represent you in litigation, advise you on international legislation, and make sure you know how new policies could affect your business. And we’re extremely familiar with European Union State aid and public procurement. Our antitrust, competition, and economic regulation practice offers practical support and advice, from compliance audits and online courses in compliance and dawn raid preparation, to mock dawn raids.
