

Sean P. Collins

Senior Associate
Washington, D.C.

Biography

Sean Collins advises clients on U.S. and international business transactions, with a focus on cross-border mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures, and complex multi-jurisdictional projects such as global carveouts.

Sean has advised strategic companies, financial sponsors, and other investors in industries as diverse as aerospace and defense; automotive; industrial manufacturing; life sciences and health care; and technology, media, and telecoms. Sean has experience working with local counsel to solve complex legal issues in over 50 jurisdictions and legal regimes, including in Argentina, Brazil, Canada, China, England & Wales, France, India, the Netherlands, the United Arab Emirates, and Switzerland, to name a few.

Prior to joining Hogan Lovells, Sean attended the University of Chicago Law School as a Rubenstein Scholar, graduating with honors. While in law school, Sean was a member of the University of Chicago's Institute for Justice Clinic on Entrepreneurship where he provided legal assistance to low-income entrepreneurs in Chicago. Before law school, he earned a B.A. in Government & Politics and a B.A. in Philosophy from the University of Maryland.

Representative experience

Phone

+1 202 637 5752

Fax

+1 202 637 5910

Email

sean.collins@hoganlovells.com

---

Practices

Mergers and Acquisitions

Private Equity

---

Industries

Aerospace and Defense

Automotive

Technology & Telecoms

---

Education and admissions

Education

Dell Technologies Inc. on the sale of its information technology services business to NTT DATA for US$3.055bn.

Ingredion on its public takeover of PureCircle, a London premium-listed producer of stevia sweeteners.

Daimler on a mobility joint venture with BMW.

Lockheed Martin Corporation on the combination of its IT and technical services businesses with Leidos in a US$5.0bn Reverse Morris Trust transaction.

Latest thinking and events

- Hogan Lovells Publications
  - M&A Update - Delaware Court of Chancery makes notable MAE finding, allows Fresenius to terminate proposed US$4.3 billion acquisition of Akorn M&A Update
- Press Releases
  - Hogan Lovells advises Daimler on a mobility joint venture with BMW

J.D., The University of Chicago Law School, with honors, 2015

B.A., University of Maryland, magna cum laude, 2012

---

Bar admissions and qualifications

District of Columbia

New York

---