

Health

Every player in the global health industry has to deal with an exceedingly complex regulatory landscape. What's more, this landscape is constantly changing. Consider the sea change in regulation brought about by the Affordable Care Act, and the ongoing repercussions and developments.

We know how overwhelming it can be trying to effectively navigate today's regulatory environment and capitalize on opportunities. Because we have an in-depth understanding of the relationship between government and the global health care marketplace, we provide legal solutions that are aligned with business strategy.

We are uniquely positioned to serve providers and suppliers of health care services and products and all other players in the health care sector. We work with them as regulatory lawyers, and also as their strategic advisers, lobbyists, litigators, and dealmakers. From start-ups to multinational enterprises to trade associations, our clients come from every part of the health care sector of the worldwide economy.

One thing that makes us so effective is that our team includes an exceptionally high number of lawyers who are former senior government officials. This means we have insider insight into institutional thinking and decision-making processes at regulatory agencies so that we can better persuade them to take a certain view or course of action.
