

Innovation and Regulation: An Uncomfortable Relationship?

12 October 2016

Innovation and economic regulation of energy utility assets are not the easiest of bedfellows. But, despite the fact that economic regulation has typically entrenched long term thinking, innovation – challenging the assumptions underpinning such models – has the potential to deliver more for less.

Read More: Innovation and Regulation: An Uncomfortable Relationship?

Contacts

Charles Ford

Counsel

Philip Brown

Partner

Andrew
Gallagher

Partner

> Read the full article online