

Thomas M. Trucksess

Counsel

Northern Virginia

Biography

Experienced in helping clients navigate business disputes and complex commercial litigation, Tom Trucksess advocates for favorable outcomes while advancing his clients' business objectives. Tom understands that disputes and litigation must be analyzed in the context of a client's overall business, and takes pride in working with his clients to achieve this goal.

Tom has represented major health insurers in actions ranging from nationwide class action and multi-district litigation to individual coverage disputes in state court. Tom also regularly represents clients from a wide range of other industries in commercial litigation matters spanning many areas of substantive law, including antitrust, real and intellectual property rights, disputes arising out of commercial contracts, employment disputes, and claims arising under federal and state law. Tom has experience in state and federal court matters throughout the United States.
