Biography

Burkhart Goebel is the Global Head of the Hogan Lovells' Intellectual Property, Media and Technology practice.

He helps clients navigate the challenging seas of complex cross-border and multiple jurisdiction IP litigation. In his 25 years of experience, he has pleaded or acted as instructing counsel before senior courts in almost every jurisdiction in Europe, handling some of the largest multiple jurisdiction disputes in the history of IP litigation. He constantly draws on the experience and insights gained from these different jurisdictions to make each case a success. He knows how to avoid surprises – he's seen where the pitfalls lie and guides clients around them. Rare among IP litigators, Burkhart has particular expertise in IP-related public international law. Working closely with offices from Spain to Russia adds to his deep understanding of a wide range of legal issues and jurisdictions.

Burkhart has represented clients in preliminary rulings before the Court of Justice of the European Union arising from jurisdictions that include Austria, Finland, Germany, and the UK. He also has extensive experience advising on trade secrets, know how and development agreements.
