

Clara Regalado

Junior Associate

Madrid

Biography

As junior associate in the Intellectual Property, Media and Technology Department in Hogan Lovells' Madrid office, Clara Regalado assists clients in matters concerning data protection, cybersecurity, e-commerce, electronic signatures, telecommunications and intellectual property rights.

In addition, Clara has experience in assisting international and local companies before the Spanish Data Protection Agency (in particular, in the context of sanctioning proceedings) and other administrative bodies, as well as judicial bodies.

Representative experience

Providing local and international entities of several sectors, specially the insurance sector, with guidance on the fulfillment of the requirements under data protection laws.

Advising international and local companies of significance before the Spanish Data Protection Agency (in particular, in the context of sanctioning proceedings) and other administrative bodies, as well as judicial bodies.

Assisting one of the largest international companies in the supermarkets sector in the data protection aspects of the launch of their App.

Phone

+34 91 349 82 00

Fax

+34 91 349 82 00

Email

clara.regalado@hoganlovells.com

Languages

English
French
German

Education and admissions

Education

LLM in Preparation for Lawyers and Business Law, Universidad de Navarra, 2017

Double Degree in Law and European Union Law and International Lawyer Practice, Universidad San Pablo CEU, 2016

Advising local and international entities in drafting intellectual property rights license and purchase agreements.