

Proxy Solicitations, Shareholder Meetings, and Shareholder Proposals

The public company lawyers at Hogan Lovells handle all aspects of aspects of proxy solicitations, shareholder meetings, and shareholder proposals. We advise on how to communicate, respond, and handle the issues that arise — on everything from shareholder proposals to contested elections.

We understand the SEC rules and regulations. Our team includes former high-level SEC officials, including the former head of the Office of Mergers and Acquisitions.

We guide you through the myriad of SEC rules and regulations, proxy advisory firm guidance, the board's fiduciary obligations, and the corporate law aspects of the meeting itself.

We can help you see beyond the meeting and anticipate what's best for you now and down the road.

Latest thinking and events

Webinar

AGMs - A season of discontent

Hogan Lovells Publications

Corporate Governance Outlook 2019

Hogan Lovells Publications

SEC staff issues important guidance on shareholder proposals for the 2019 proxy season

Contacts

Alan L. Dye,
Washington, D.C.

C. Alex Bahn,
Washington, D.C.

John B. Beckman,
Washington, D.C.

Practices

Securities and Public
Company Advisory

Corporate Governance
and Public Company
Representation
