

Hogan Lovells

Opinion: Professional sports leagues are bleeding billions of dollars in revenue

18 March 2020

MarketWatch

What strange times for the sports world. The National Basketball Association, National Hockey League, and Major League Soccer suspended their season, the NCAA canceled both the men's and women's March Madness tournaments, Major League Baseball's Opening Day is being delayed, and The Masters golf tournament is being postponed.

Read More: Opinion: Professional sports leagues are bleeding billions of dollars in revenue

Contacts

Mark Kurtenbach

Partner

> Read the full article online