Biography

Shah Jahan Khandokar is a project development lawyer with extensive experience in energy and infrastructure projects across the full energy value chain.

Shah Jahan has a focus on international energy projects in emerging and frontier markets (particularly MENA and sub-Saharan Africa), with experience advising foreign investors/sponsors, lenders, and host governments.

His experience includes acting in LNG and pipeline projects, and both conventional and renewable power projects, including several first-in-country projects. His clients include multilateral organisations such as the World Bank Group, power developers, international oil companies, mining companies and trading houses.
