

Louise Crawford

Senior Associate

London

Biography

Louise has experience in a wide range of technology and data protection work including multi-jurisdictional compliance programmes, outsourcing agreements and data transfer projects to facilitate the commercial use of data which is so vital to businesses today. Louise also advises on data protection investigations, data subject requests and security breaches.

Having previously worked in Hong Kong, Singapore and Dubai, Louise has a good understanding of the variation in laws and regulatory environments in other regions and how this impacts global businesses and she has experience in helping clients maintain consistency in their compliance approach globally. Louise has worked with clients from the technology, financial services, health care, airline and retail industries.

Louise also has in-house IT legal experience in the financial services industry, having spent a year working in the technology legal team of a global bank advising on IT, data protection and outsourcing projects in Asia Pacific.
