

Rob Beecher

Associate

Philadelphia

Biography

Rob Beecher brings valuable solutions to clients facing the prospect of investigation or commercial litigation.

Prior to joining Hogan Lovells, Rob volunteered through City Year, an AmeriCorps affiliated program, and spent time working for political campaigns in Pennsylvania, notably including Governor Tom Wolf and U.S. Senate Candidate Katie McGinty. While in law school, he held the position of executive article editor for the Harvard Law & Policy Review, and was actively involved with trial advocacy competitions.

On the pro bono side, Rob recently held a leadership role in the Partners of the Harvard Women's Law Association initiative, a local effort dedicated to supporting the organization's mission through allyship.

Latest thinking and events

- Press Releases
 - Hogan Lovells represents individual plaintiffs in major legal action against Pennsylvania over preemption of gun safety laws
- Press Releases
 - New lawsuit seeks to ensure Pennsylvania voters can obtain ballots in face of high volume, mail delay

Phone

+1 267 675 4692

Fax

+1 267 675 4601

Email

rob.beecher@hoganlovells.com

Practices

Litigation Services

Investigations, White Collar, and Fraud

Commercial Litigation

Securities, Shareholder, and M&A Litigation

Insurance

Industries

Insurance

Education and admissions

Education

J.D., Harvard Law School, cum laude, 2019

B.A., University of Pittsburgh, summa
cum laude, 2014

Bar admissions and qualifications

Pennsylvania
