

11 September 2017

Law360

Recent case law underscores the importance of demonstrating a strong causal link between the false or misleading statement forming the basis of a Lanham Act false advertising claim and the resulting injury to the plaintiff. These decisions provide valuable guidance for any company that wishes to pursue or needs to defend against a false advertising claim.

Click to read the rest of the article on Law360.

Contacts

Susan M.
Cook

Partner

Rebecca C.
Mandel

Partner

> Read the full article online