

Jonathan O. Hirsch

Associate

Washington, D.C.

Biography

Jonathan Hirsch helps clients understand and comply with data protection and privacy laws. His practice focuses on proactively identifying and addressing issues raised by new technologies and regulations. He advises clients on a range of privacy laws, including the CCPA, GDPR, and HIPAA.

During his time at Hogan Lovells, Jonathan has assisted with a range of matters, including government investigations, incident responses, as well as general compliance matters.

Prior to law school, Jonathan worked for two technology companies, implementing and supporting software solutions for large enterprise businesses. As a law student, he gained practical experience working on the legal team of a startup eyewear retailer.
