

Josephine Gembalski, LL.M.

Business Lawyer

Berlin

Biography

Josephine Gembalski supports national and international companies in complex contractual and commercial disputes in the run-up to court proceedings. She also supports the legal preparation of litigation proceedings. Her current work also focuses on enforcement insolvency and cost law matters as well as on internal project management.

After her training as a paralegal and notary clerk and after completing her bachelor's and master's degree in international corporate law, Josephine worked mainly in the field of insolvency and enforcement law.

Prior to joining Hogan Lovells, she gained several years of practical experience in restructuring and insolvency administration in a major German law firm. This was followed by two further years in the execution/legal department of a dynamic Fintech company, where she further deepened her in-depth knowledge. Since the beginning of 2020, Josephine has been part of our Munich Litigation Team in Berlin as a Business Lawyer.
