

Bella Mikheeva

Associate
Moscow

Biography

Bella Mikheeva is a Russian-qualified associate in the dispute resolution practice of the Moscow office of Hogan Lovells. She is experienced in advising Russian and overseas clients on various matters of Russian private law and representing them in international and Russian disputes, both before state courts and in arbitration.

She also advises private clients on family law and cross-border matrimonial matters. Apart from this, Bella provides legal support to clients during investigations by state authorities and conducts internal investigations into allegations of fraud and corruption.

Representative experience

Advising the Deposit Insurance Agency as a liquidator of Mezhprombank on the worldwide freezing order and English proceedings brought against Sergey Pugachev.

Advising a major telecommunications company in connection with a potential LCIA arbitration overall worth US$90m related to various warranty breaches.

Advising a number of international manufacturing companies on product liability issues.

Conducting an internal investigation into operations of a producer of air conditioning equipment in connection with possible violations of the FCPA.

Phone

+7 495 933 3000

Fax

+7 495 933 3001

Email

bella.mikheeva@hoganlovells.com

Languages

English
Russian

Practices

Employment
International Arbitration
Investigations, White Collar, and Fraud
Litigation Services

Industries

Automotive
Consumer
Life Sciences and Health Care
Technology and Telecoms

Assisting an international telecommunication company in connection with an investigation into violation of the U.S. restrictions on supplies in violation of sanctions.

Providing investigations-related and compliance advice to clients in pharmaceutical, technology and telecom sectors.

Education and admissions

Education

Law Degree, Lomonosov Moscow State University
