

The Increasing Promise of Technology-Assisted Review: How to Tame the Vulgar Expense of E-Discovery

02 June 2020

ACEDS Blog

In my first major case using technology-assisted review, our team had to review documents in Korean, which brought with them privacy and cross-border transfer concerns. The technology was very helpful, but we still had to employ two rooms filled with Korean-speaking lawyers to support the effort. Needless to say, it was a very expensive production.

Read More: The Increasing Promise of Technology-Assisted Review: How to Tame the Vulgar Expense of E-Discovery

Contacts

Alvin F.
Lindsay

Partner

> Read the full article online