Biography

When clients make significant business decisions, they need a seasoned advisor who understands their industry and can provide valuable insight. For more than 30 years, Glenn Campbell has advised aerospace and defense, industrial, and life sciences companies to help them implement some of their most important strategies. He works with clients as an integral member of their team, helping them solve problems efficiently so that they can stay focused on their business objectives.

Glenn advises on mergers and acquisitions, complex joint ventures and alliances, and a range of financing transactions. He also regularly counsels companies, their directors, and executives on appropriate corporate governance solutions. With his clients' goals in mind, Glenn counsels them on the impact that securities laws have on their initiatives.

Glenn joined Hogan Lovells in 2007 and served for five years as managing partner of the Baltimore office.
