

William Hardisty

Associate

London

Biography

Will advises financial institutions on a range of corporate and regulatory matters, with a particular focus on long-term insurance and reinsurance. His practice is both transactional and advisory in nature.

He has acted on domestic and international reorganisations of insurance groups, buy-in transactions, longevity swaps and other methods of reducing risk for insurers and pension schemes.

He has also advised banks, insurers and other financial institutions on their regulatory requirements under UK and EU law, in particular on their regulatory capital obligations under Solvency II and the Capital Requirements Regulation.

He recently spent 6 months seconded to a major UK insurer.

Representative experience

Advising various regulated entities in relation to their regulatory capital requirements under Solvency II and the CRR.

Advising Prudential on various transactions relating to insurance, reinsurance and regulatory capital requirements.

Acting for a major European reinsurer on a proposed internal corporate reorganisation.
