

Santiago De Ampuero Castellanos

Associate
Madrid

Biography

After several years working in a Spanish top-tier law firm, Santiago joined Hogan Lovells to continue advising companies on data protection issues (including the implementation of the GDPR), IP, information society services and e-commerce, electronic signature, audiovisual and telecom regulations, as well as on business transactions and corporate matters related to the foregoing, issues related to the Internet, personal rights, consumers and users, and advertising.

In addition, Santiago brings experience in assisting local and international companies before the Spanish Data Protection Agency (in all kind of proceedings and, particularly, with regard to sanctioning proceedings), the National Commission on Markets and Competition, and the Spanish National Court.

He also spends time helping non profitable organizations to implement their projects with reference to the matters above.

Representative experience

Assisting local and international companies before the Spanish Data Protection Agency, the National Commission on Markets and Competition, and the

Phone

+34 91 3498 182

Fax

+34 91 349 82 00

Email

santiago.deampuero@hoganlovells.com

Languages

English
Spanish

Education and admissions

Education

Double Degree in Law and Business Management, Universidad Pontificia de Comillas, 2013

Spanish National Court.

Advise on a day to day basis to leaders in the insurance industry, as well as to top-level information society service providers.

Advising an IT multinational corporation on the adaptation to the EU General Data Protection Regulation.

Assisting local and international entities in reviewing and drafting intellectual property rights licenses and contracts.