

Jared Schubert

Senior Associate

New York

Biography

Jared Schubert represents clients in intellectual property (IP) litigation. He focuses his practice on pharmaceuticals, life sciences, and biotechnology patent litigation and preparation.

Jared has handled cases for life sciences clients, with a particular focus on Hatch-Waxman litigation. He has in-depth experience assisting with complex scientific matters where he uses his background as an analytical chemist to engage with the underlying science.

Prior to joining the firm, Jared refined his IP litigation and transactional skills at an intellectual property boutique where he primarily advised life sciences and technology clients.
