

William Foubister

Senior Associate

London

Biography

As a senior associate in the London Litigation Group, William's practice focuses on financial services disputes, investigations and contentious regulatory matters. He frequently helps guide institutional clients through their interactions with regulators globally, and also when their disputes lead to litigation.

William's experience encompasses a range of High Court litigation and regulator-led investigations, often with an international element. This has involved helping banks formulate a strategic approach to a number of competing objectives; minimizing institutional risk and engaging effectively with authorities. He has also undertaken a six-month secondment to the legal team of a leading international bank.

Representative experience

Acting for a leading bank in a complex portfolio of litigation with a regulatory context.

Advising a leading bank on investigations into benchmarks and on engaging with regulators and authorities in multiple jurisdictions.

Negotiating a settlement through mediation for a leading institution in a dispute arising from a guarantee.
