

Sian Owles

Partner
London

Biography

With a career that has followed the rise of, and trends in, the indirect real estate sector, Sian Owles brings extensive experience in structuring real estate joint ventures, corporate wrapped real estate transactions and real estate funds. Much of Sian's work involves advising on joint venture and club deal terms for real estate investment and development, the acquisition and disposal of corporate real estate holding structures, fund structuring, restructuring, investments and exits. Increasingly, the real estate sector is international in focus and Sian's practice reflects this. She advises sovereign wealth funds, international fund managers, overseas pension funds, UK fund managers and REITs on their UK and pan-European investments. Hogan Lovells' strength and depth as a global law firm provides the competitive advantage keeping Hogan Lovells at the forefront of the structured real estate market.
