

Michael Jahn

Senior Associate

Munich

Biography

Michael Jahn advises national and international companies, including various Fortune 500 and DAX 40 companies, on issues regarding commercial criminal law as well as on topics related to compliance and internal investigations.

As part of his practice, Michael advises in particular on the set up and management of internal investigations, often in the context of public prosecutor investigations. In doing so, he coordinates the review of relevant data and provides the legal assessments, in particular regarding possible questions of liability of companies and their employees. Michael has extensive experience in communicating with authorities, for example in the context of dawn raids or sanction proceedings.

Michael completed his studies at the Ludwigs-Maximilians-Universität in Munich. During his legal clerkship at the Munich Higher Regional Court, Michael worked for the Munich Public Prosecutor's Office I and a Munich law firm for white-collar crime. In addition to his legal clerkship, Michael also worked for an international commercial law firm.
