

Ninth Circuit decision reaffirms the FTC's jurisdiction in overseeing broadband markets

05 March 2018

On 27 February 2018, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit ruled unanimously in an en banc decision that the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) may bring enforcement actions against AT&T and other telecommunications providers for their non-common carrier activities (Federal Trade Commission v. AT&T Mobility).

Read More: Ninth Circuit decision reaffirms the FTC's jurisdiction in overseeing broadband markets

Contacts

Logan M.
Breed

Partner

> Read the full article online