

Aviation Finance

Structuring and documenting aviation finance transactions is complex. When assets are located across borders and subject to the laws of multiple jurisdictions, the complexity increases. Timing and tax efficiency are critical.

Through our extensive network of international offices, and in-depth industry know-how, we work on a wide range of structures for the acquisition and financing of aircraft. Our experience spans export credit agency-supported financings; the acquisition, financing, and disposal of individual aircraft; and the acquisition of asset and loan portfolios. We advise on commercial and tax-based financings (in particular, French, German, and Japanese tax-based), Islamic financings, predelivery payment financings, and securitizations (both true sale and synthetic).

Our team, based throughout Europe, the United States, the Middle East, and Asia, represents operators, lessors, investors, banks, manufacturers, and governments globally.
