

Whose property is it anyway? Government publishes plans for beneficial ownership register

26 July 2018

Keeping It Real Estate

Draft legislation to implement the government's proposals for a "beneficial ownership register" has finally been published and the government is seeking views on the detail. The Registration of Overseas Entities Bill follows hot on the heels of last year's consultation on the proposed register and provides some much needed flesh on the outline plans.
