

Julia Grabowska

Associate

New York

Biography

Julia Grabowska focuses her practice on litigation and international arbitration. She has experience in commercial arbitration and mediation in a variety of sectors, including life sciences, hospitality, and energy.

Julia began her career at Hogan Lovells as a summer associate in 2017. She is passionate about public service and pro bono work. Her pro bono practice focuses on human rights, working with various NGOs to petition UN bodies on behalf of political prisoners in Central Asia.

In law school, Julia served as a notes editor for the Columbia Journal of Transnational Law. Her work on the housing rights of the Roma population in Europe was selected for publication by the journal. She worked as an intern at the Committee Against Torture, focusing on violations of the Convention Against Torture in Eastern Europe and Central Asia. She further developed her pro bono practice as an intern with the Family Defense Practice at the Bronx Defenders.

Prior to law school, Julia received a Dulverton Scholarship to pursue her graduate degree in Russian and East European Studies at the University of Oxford.
