

Luis R. Leos

Associate

Houston

Biography

Trained in common law and civil law jurisdictions, Luis Leos leverages his unique background and international perspective to assist clients in a broad range of domestic and cross-border transactions.

Luis represents clients in the acquisition, joint venture, development, and financing of infrastructure, power, renewable energy, and oil and gas projects. He also assists industry leaders on mergers and acquisitions transactions, sovereign entities on capital markets transactions, and a variety of clients on general corporate matters. Proficient in English, Spanish, and German, and double-qualified in Texas and Mexico, Luis is able to seamlessly facilitate client's complex, cross-border transactions by bridging differences and finding common ground.

Prior to joining the firm, Luis worked for two major law firms in Mexico City where he helped clients devise tax strategies and resolve administrative procedures on federal and international taxes, including double tax treaties and transfer pricing. He has also been part of a major International Chamber of Commerce (ICC) arbitration involving the acquisition of a leading network company in Mexico, and regularly assisted clients on customs and international trade matters between Mexico and the United States.
