

Lisette Lach-Reichle

Senior Director – Hogan Lovells Transfer Pricing
London

Biography

Lisette is the go to person for supply chain restructurings. She makes things happen!

Her background in antidumping investigations and business and diplomacy studies enable her to communicate with senior executives of large multinationals with complex supply chain and transfer pricing arrangements to help them reshape the way they do business more efficiently.

Lisette joined Hogan Lovells Solutions Limited in September 2016. She worked previously at two of the Big Four and more recently at the restructuring and consulting firm, Alvarez & Marsal in London. Prior to pursuing her MBA, Lisette also spent a number of years at the US department of Commerce's Anti dumping Investigations Division.

Lisette received her undergraduate degree from Georgetown University's School of Foreign Service in the US and an MBA from Henley Management College in the UK.
