

Laura Heller

Senior Associate

Baltimore

Biography

Companies of all sizes turn to Laura Heller as a trusted adviser on navigating the challenges of public markets.

Her practice includes advising NYSE- and Nasdaq-listed entities on the often interrelated requirements of SEC rules and stock exchange listing standards, including disclosures and Section 16 reporting. In addition, she helps with corporate governance matters, equity and debt offerings, IPOs, and other transactions.

On the pro bono side, Laura has worked closely with nonprofits on their organizational needs, including obtaining 501(c)(3) status.

Prior to joining Hogan Lovells, Laura graduated magna cum laude from the University of Maryland Francis King Carey School of Law, where she served as Editor-in-Chief of the Maryland Law Review, was a member of both the Moot Court Board and the National Trial Team, and served as a mediator in the Baltimore City District Court as a part of Maryland Law's Mediation Clinic.
