

Secondary Markets and Co-investments

Secondary markets engage investors, funds, and financial institutions. You examine the regulatory angles, the deal structures, and the execution. You need a team that understands all the moving parts.

At Hogan Lovells, we advise buyers and sellers of infrastructure interests in the secondary market. We act on individual asset trades as well as large, complex portfolio deals and pure-play secondary trades. With global reach, market insight, and industry knowledge, we know the asset classes, work on every transaction type, and maintain relationships with the key industry players throughout the world.

Representative experience
