

Thomas J. Carey, Jr.

Attorney

Boston

Biography

Tom Carey is active across many of the firm's practice areas, having handled numerous civil and criminal appeals in state and federal courts in more than four decades of service as an appellate advocate.

He is acquainted with issues arising out of virtually every possible sector of commerce and industry, successfully briefing and arguing cases on appeal to the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court, the Massachusetts Appeals Court, and the U.S. Court of Appeals for the First Circuit.

Since success on appeal depends on identifying and preserving legal issues at the trial level, his extensive legal knowledge and analytical skills are available to the firm and its clients from the earliest stages of a case until the last appeal is exhausted.

He has briefed and argued appellate matters involving substantive legal issues related to many different legal disciplines, including but not limited to administrative law, banking and finance, civil rights and constitutional law, and corporate/securities matters. Additional issues include employment, governmental enforcement, health care, and intellectual property matters.

Tom is passionate about serving others, not only as an advocate for his clients, but as a teacher and a civic volunteer. Previously, he spent many years as an
